THE CHARLEROI MAIL

VOL. XVIII. NO. 239. CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON CO. TUESDAY, MARCH 26, 1918 ONE CENT

WILL ASK FOR A BETTER AND PROPER DISPLAY OF U. S. FLAGS

Want Emblems Torn And Tattered by Storm and Wind Replaced.

INSPIRED BY PATRIOTISM

The mighty battle now raging on the western front, as well as the near approach of the date for the Third Liberty Loan, has roused a greater spirit of patriotism than ever before known in the United States. While all admit the gravity of the situation in Europe with the Germans making the supreme effort of the war to break through the British lines, yet the people are waiting supremely confident that the outcome will justify the optimism of our military leaders who say the Germans will be checked before they have gained their objectives.

The big battle likewise draws attention to the necessity for the success of the Third Liberty Loan, to be launched on the 6th of April, which must be made to go "over the top" with even greater force than the two previous loans.

These two facts, however, bring us face to face with a local condition which Burgess Woodward is of the opinion should be rectified at once. It concerns the people of Charleroi particularly and that is the proper display of flags, as well as the proper care of these emblems, once they are raised. Last spring, when war was declared, the American flag was raised from hundreds of homes on many business blocks and in public places. It was a great display of patriotism. But when the flags had been raised those who were responsible for their display evidently forgot all about them and today passers-by are able to see nothing but remnants of what were once beautiful emblems of our country.

This condition Burgess Woodward believes should be rectified at once, and as the first step will propose that the borough council purchase two American flags of an appropriate size, to be used on the community flag pole at McKean avenue and Fifth street, which will be displayed during the day only, police officers on duty at that point being charged with the duty of raising every morning and lowering every evening the emblem which stands for national unity. In addition, those of our citizens and business houses which have displayed flags in the past, will be asked to renew the emblems at the same time requested to take better care of them.

Burgess Woodward feels that Charleroi citizens should respond promptly to this request. If there ever was a time in the history of the country when the people should show a feeling of enthusiastic patriotism it is right now. The world war is at a critical stage. American troops are in the vicinity of the mighty battle now in thesixth day of its intensity; the probabilities are, that before activities are over large bodies of American troops will be actively engaged and will be pitted against the Hun, who is making such a fierce onslaught on the British line. What more appropriate therefore than a proper display of our patriotism by showing our national emblem clean and unsullied and paying that proper respect to which it is entitled.

MONESSEN HIGH NOW CLAIMS CHAMPIONSHIP

The Monessen high school basket ball team defeated the Washington team on the floor of the gym at Monessen last Friday night by a score of 54 to 21. The Catfish boys were completely outclassed by their rivals, who now claim the championship of Western Pennsylvania by having won fifteen straight games and having disposed of some of the fastest teams in this part of the state.

A SOLDIERS' HONOR ROLL

Movement Now Under Way to Provide Funds for its Erection.

PLACED AT FIFTH AND M'KEAN

Mrs. B. Means is in Charleroi representing the Ashtabult Changeable Sign Company, which will provide the Honor Boards to be erected by the people of the community at the corner of McKean avenue and Fifth street in honor of the boys from this community who are now or who may hereafter enter the military and naval service of the United States in the present war.

These honor boards will be made of metal, painted white and each will be 10 feet 6 inches high and six feet six inches wide, and on these boards will be placed the names of the men together with the regiments or other military or naval units to which they belong; whether they are missing or lose their life in the service or whatever may become of the men will be set forth on this roll.

The names of the donors of the board which will be those who contribute to the expense of the undertaking, will be placed in small gold letters on the bottom of one of the boards. A heavy plate glass in a frame will be placed in front of the boards, which will be kept locked at all times, that no damage or change can be made in the names of any of the men appearing thereon. After the war theboards will be sealed and left as a perpetual monument in honor of the men who responded to the call of their country in the hour of need.

Charleroi Is No Place For Loafers And Bums

The edict has gone forth in Charleroi that the bum and the loafer must go. There is no room for him in this municipality, and he must either go to work at some steady occupation or seek some other locality where the police officials are more lenient. The recent warm weather, showing the early advent of spring has brought out a number of those who, like the lily, "toil not, neither do they spin," yet manage to get three "squares" a day as the result of the labor of other persons, while they appear to have sufficient apparel to keep them comfortable.

Police officials during the past few days have recognized a number of old offenders, who take up valuable space on the streets, but who are never so busy but what they can find plenty of time to loaf. At this time there is no excuse for an idle man. Work is plenty and wages are generous. Mills, factories and mines are in need of men and would be glad to get any additional labor that is available. This being the case, Burgess Woodward and the local police have come to the conclusion there is no excuse for loafers on the streets of Charleroi, whose chief occupation seems to be to get all the free booze possible, and then stand around on the streets making disparaging remarks.

The mandate has gone forth that they must go. They must go to work, or get out of town, or get off the streets. In any event, they must get under cover. If they persist in their old calling of loafing about town, living off the generosity of others, they will be hailed before the Burgess, who will likely give them a "plaster" that will keep them stepping to get rid of. The local authorities are of the opinion that Charleroi has had enough of this species and that his tribe must go. It is therefore the loafer's move.

PROMOTION COMES TO JOHN R. GAUT

Lieutenant John R. Gaut, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gaut of the Hotel Walfred was notified last week of his promotion to the rank of First Lieutenant, the promotion dating back to December 31, 1917. Lieutenant Gaut offered his services to the government early last March, before war was declared. He was at that time a student in his Junior year at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass., and was ordered to Springfield, Mass., for examination as a reserve officer. He passed the examination successfully and was recommended for a commission by order of Major General Wood. He was later ordered to report on May 8th to the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Niagara, N. Y., where he served the full three months' course of training without being off duty an hour, and was commissioned Second Lieutenant of Infantry on the 15th of August, with orders to report August 29th at Camp Meade, Md.

When regiments were formed Lieutenant Gaut was attached to the 154th Depot Brigade and is still a member of that unit, although for the past two months he had been detailed on special duty in charge of the conscientious objectors. His early promotion is very pleasing to his friends in Charleroi and elsewhere as it is conclusive evidence of his close attention to duty and his ability as an officer in our splendid army.

Many a game has been won in the last few minutes of play. So with battles—a turn of fortune at the last moment brings about an entire change in conditions.

WILL OPEN BIG GARAGE APRIL 1ST

By a sudden and unexpected turn in affairs through a big real estate transaction locally William Herron will not erect and open the Tri-Cities Garage at Third and Schoonmaker in Monessen as previously announced for May 1, but instead he will open one month earlier at 30 Donner avenue, Monessen.

Friday Mr. Herron closed a deal by which he bought the new and modern garage of T. E. Lowstuter, 30 Donner avenue, known as the Standard garage, where an addition and some extensive improvements will be made for his new plant.

Mr. Herron has secured the agency for several pleasure cars and two trucks and already is receiving his demonstrators. It will be a great advantage to get into his new place one month earlier. Another lot has been purchased adjoining the garage he will occupy and a modern repair shop will be added.

SOLDIER PALL BEARERS FOR JAMES R. GEEKIE

The soldiers who acted as pallbearers at the funeral of James R. Geekie last Sunday were comrades from his old command, Company A, 110th Infantry, at Camp Hancock. They were Corporals Vern T. Ford and Herman Arrison and Private Al. Richards of Monongahela, Private John Carroll of Charleroi, Private Bird McCrory of Fayette City and Private Robert E. Lopp, of Pittsburg. Sergeant M. Lombard of Co. K, 347th Infantry, Camp Pike, Ark., Sergeant Aubrey E. Cierihue of the 220th Aero squadron and Private Ralph C. Kulow of the 15th U. S. Cavalry of Ft. Bliss, were also present.

The British resistance stiffened on Monday and the Germans were thrown back in places. When they have passed the "peak" of their offensive the allies will continue to give them a little more fighting.

DRAFT CONTINGENT FROM THIS DISTRICT WILL REPORT MONDAY

TAKES AN APPEAL FROM COURT OF LOCAL JUSTICE

In the case of the commonwealth against Annie Zuray, upon petition, an appeal has been allowed for alleged summary conviction. The defendant was charged before Justice R. J. Whitehead with "loud and unseemly noise against the character," etc., of the prosecutor and was fined $1 and costs. This was paid under protest. The defendant avers the justice acted without authority.

HIGH PRICE FOR SUBSTITUTES

Figures Away in Excess of What Flour Can Be Bought For

CONFERENCE WITH MR. DARBY

Local Food Administrator Darby came in contact with a couple of salesmen representing a Pittsburg wholesale house on Monday, whom he says were offering certain grades of substitute flour at the exorbitant rates to the people of this community.

These salesmen in going about town soliciting orders claimed to have discovered that merchants were selling beans to customers as a cereal and attempted to take Mr. Darby to task for what they appeared to think was a change in the regulation of the food laws of the country. However Mr. Darby took the salesmen before Mr. Masters of the local food dealers association, where the matter was threshed out.

During his conference it developed that these salesmen were selling substitutes at a figure away above what it is claimed they should be, as for instance potato flour at the rate of $26 per barrel, white corn flour at $24, rice flour $24, rye flour at $18 and barley $14. These figures are considered excessive by local dealers and the salesmen were so informed. Likewise they were told that local food dealers have not been given the privilege of selling beans as a cereal nor as a substitute for flour. They were told also that the prices they were asking for their substitutes was not justified by conditions, particularly with reference to rye flour, which never before had sold for more than wheat flour.

While the salesmen were evidently satisfied that the local administration was handling the food situation in a manner satisfactory to the citizens, there appeared to be no disposition on their part to reduce the figures at which they were attempting to sell the substitute flour for which their house was agent.

Men to Assemble in Charleroi and Leave on Special at 1:40 p. m.

WILL TRAIN AT CAMP LEE

Orders were received by the registration and draft boards of the fifth district of Washington county with headquarters at Donora to entrain draftees from this district on Monday, April 1, at 1:40 p. m.

The number of men to be sent from this locality is 61, and orders are being issued today to that number of men to report in Charleroi on the above date, prepared to board the special train which will go through to Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., where this contingent will train.

District No. 4 with headquarters at Ellsworth, will send 50 men and in all probability these men will entrain in Charleroi. Brownsville and vicinity will send 59 men, Dravisburg district 61 men and the Duquesne district 79 men. A special train will run through from Brownsville, arriving in Charleroi at 1:40, which will carry all the men in the valley along the Monongahela Division, to Pittsburg. A special train will leave the Union Station at 3:40 p. m. and is scheduled to arrive in Petersburg the next morning at 7 a. m. The men will take supper at Altoona and breakfast the next morning at Richmond, Va.

The men will be directed to appear at the Elks Club at 6 o'clock Monday morning, where they will register, receive final instructions and a Captain appointed to take charge of them on the trip south.

Heretofore the draftees from this district have been sent to Camp Sherman. The contingent to go next week will be sent to Camp Lee, where they will train. Whether this is to be a permanent change is not given out by the war department, but it is rather significant that the government should send these men further south for training. It may mean that Camp Sherman will not receive any more men from the five counties in western Pennsylvania, which have heretofore sent their men to that cantonment.

Frances E. Rider.

Mrs. Frances E. Rider, wife of S. T. Rider, died at her home in Fallowfield township Monday afternoon, March 25 at 5:15 o'clock aged about 62 years. Funeral services will be held from her late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Maple Creek cemetery. Mrs. Rider had been in charge of the Maple Creek telephone exchange for a number of years, being assisted by her daughter. Mrs. Vada A. Lutes who died on the 31st day of last January.

WITH M. CARMEN.

On the morning train to the city Farmer Cox found only one empty seat. This was beside M. Carmen, his neighbor. Farmer Cox dropped into it and nodded ceremony, for all the town respected the Frenchman who had made his home there.

"Morning, Monseer" he ventured. "I'm goin' to the city to buy some new plows for the farm."

The Frechman bowed, not only his head but his body, politely.

"That is very good. Mr. Cox," he answered. "I also am buying a little—one or two bonds of my government."

Cox knew that M. Carmen managed to save some of his meagre income by living on bread and salads and such-like, but that was all very well for a Frenchman. Also buying bonds that he. Cox. knew nothing about.

"Ain't you afraid them financiers will cheat you, Monseer?" he said shrewdly. "Because them fellers are the ones that make money outer this war. They'r on the inside and they pick up a pretty prot now money's so tight."

He patted his hip pocket protectingly. No Wall Street sharper could touch his money—not much.

"Bien?" M. Carmen raised an inquiring eye-brow. "You mean that your people do not spend as much as they did before. No. Do you still believe what the German leaders here told you; that Wall Street began the war? Bah, t hase German canaille, they have given up that story."

"No, sir;" said Farmer Cox smartly "I don't believe that. We started it because we wouldn't back down. No sir! But you can't tell be them financiers won't win where we are losing money, bein' on the inside."

M. Carmen lifted a gloved hand. The glove was clean and patched. He touched the index finger.

"Listen," he replied. "I know of them, these financiers of yours. I will tell you three things. First, you say that you lose, while they win. Eh bien, you grow celerie, is it not? Celerie is bought for more money now than before the war—yes. A banker he d eals in money. grows money. Well, money is worth much less than before the war."

"That may be true," retorted Cox, "but I grow food, while they just sit in an office and take—"

"That is the next point. Two. If you undertook to cultivate another man's farm, you would ask, what is it, a cimmission? Well, these financiers will help you with your affairs, if you ask, without commissions. Yes And they are undertaking cultivation for your government—raising money. and economizing many, many of them. And for this, they ask one dollar a year."

Farmer Cox had another argument. "But they got rich on war babies before the fighting began."

M. Carmen smiled and shook his head. "That is the last point, he said "it was you and your friends who got rich on the war stocks you call "babies" i s it not? The financiers. they are too busy with the Liberty Loan and buyng and shipping for the government that pays them nothing but taxes them much. It is not you, but they who will ose money atfer we have won the great victory."

BRITISH TENACITY.

"That thin red line" is what Kipling called it. It is true the British wear the khaki. while the highland regiments cling to their native costumes. but it is the same manhood that is under the khaki and the kilts that is holding baek the Hun hordes in Picardy and saving the world for democracy.

The assaults of the Germans have been the most terrific launched by any army in any battle in the history of the world. It is the world's greatest contest. The Germans assembled over one million men to take part in the drive, which were pitted against and overwhelmingly outnumbered the British at the inception of the battle. Of course the Britons gave way, that being the better strategy, at the same time inflicting the most appealling losses on the German ranks. No such slaughter of human beings was ever known before. The British fired at the advancing hordes with open sights, in other words, at point blank range and thousands upon thousands of Germans were killed in the attack. Of course the British lost men—their losses were heavy, but in a comparative sense they were much lighter than the Germans.

The news from the front snows a more optimistic tone. The Germans shall not pass" appears to have been the firm resolve of the British, and they made good. They stood the onslaught like heroes, and although giving ground foot by foot by reason of the overpowering weight of men hurled upon them, took toll in such a manner as will have its effect on the morale of the German army. Moreover, the British and their allies were ever stronger in morale than right now. They will come back and give the Kaiser and his hordes what they have been looking for. but what they do not want to find. an army just as good if not a little better than the one which Germany spent forty years in making.

Let us hope that Secretary Baker now in France, will secure some valuable pointers from the battle now under way and that American preparation be speeded to the utmost. We should be in the greatest force in France right now.

THE BIG BATTLE

The American people for the past five days have viewed with considerable apprehension the magnitude of the German drive against the British lines in France. It is the well known hatred of Germany for England that caused her to chose the British as her opponents in this greatest of all wars in a military sense. with a view of "breaking through" and defeating them in the greatest battle of the war.

Viewed from a distance of three thousand miles of course we only get the "high spots" in the gigantic conflict now going on. for there are so many acts of bravery by divisions. brigades. regiments. companies and individuals that it is impossible to record them. However, we must be content here with the general results, taking press reports and the laconic message from Sir Douglas Haig, that man of few words but of mighty deeds. as to the progress of the battle. We realize that it will not be long until the boys from the U. S. A. will be in the thick of the fight and testing their powers as fighting men against the greatest military machine the world has ever seen. That they will prove true we are certain but we cannot allay the feeling of apprehension that follows in the wake of such mighty conflicts as is now in progress on the western front. The necessity for greater speed is apparent on our part—we need to become a unit on all things pertaining to the war—pacifists and traitors should be put where they belong and the mighty resources of this country be devoted to the prosecution of the war. All other consideration should be secondary. We are sending hundreds of thousands of our manhood. the flower of America, to the front. Let us therefore stand behind them in solid ranks and provide them with every essential. The time has come for us all to realize the fact that the United States is in the war.

CLEAN OUT THE LOAFERS

The determination of Burgess Woodward and the police department to clean out the loafers who infest Charleroi at the present time is a stand that will be approved by the public of the community.

A loafer at the present time is simply a useless excrescence, and if he will not work. ought to be moved out of town or placed in some institution where he will be compelled to labor for his bread.

The opening of spring usually brings out gentry of this kind, who are too lazy to work. and who take up a lot of valuable space in the streets which could be used to better advantage by the public. The decision of the borough authorities to make this gentry move along or get a job is to be commended. and it is hoped that the regulation will be enforced to the limit.

TURNING THE TABLES

A dispatch from Switzerland says the Germans have been almost frightened out of their seven senses by Allies air raids and that opinion is growing against continuation of the German policy. Never did they make a greater mistake. Their policy has only steeled Englishmen and Frenchmen and Americans to fight the harder to wipe forever the power of German militarism. The German government and the German people have only themselves to blame if now they perish by the sword they turned against the world.

Personal Aspect of this War

(By Rudyard Kipling.)

"Nothing else under heaven matters today except that the war shall go on to victory. The money we loan to the Government helps to set our world and our world free.

"What is the personal aspect of the case for you and me? We are fighting for our lives the lives of every man. woman and child here and everywhere else.

Fighting to Stay Free

"We are fighting that we may not be herded into actual slavery such as the Germans have established by force of their arms in large parts of Europe.

"We are fighting against eighteen hours a day forced labor under lash or at the point of the bayonet with a dog's death and a dog's burial at the end of it.

"We are fighting that men, women and children may not be tortured, burned and mutilated in the public streets as has often happened. And we will go on fighting till the race who have done these things are in no position to continue or repeat their offense.

"If for any reason whatever we fall short of victory—and there is no half-way house between victory and defeat—what happens to us? This:

Results of Defeat

"Every relation, every understanding. every decency upon which civilization has been so enviously built up will go—will be washed ut, because it will have been proved unable to endure. The whole idea of democracy—which at bottom is what the Hun fights against—will be dismissed from men's minds, because it will have been shown incapable of maintaining itself against the Hun. It will die; and it will die discredited, together with every belief and practice that is based on it.

"The Hun ideal, the Hun's rotten ideas of life will take its place throughout the world. Under that dispensation man will become once more the natural prey, body and goods of his better-armed neighbor. Women will be the mere instrument for continuing the breed; the vessel of man's lust and man's cruelty; and labor will become a thing to be knocked on the head if it dares to give trouble and worked to death if it does not.

There'll Be no Appeal

"And for this order of life there will be no appeal, no possibility of any escape. This is what the Hun means when he says he intends to impose kultur—which is the German religion—upon the world. This is precisely what the world has banded itself together to resist.

"It wil ltake every ounce in us; it will try us out to the naked soul. Our trial will not be made less by the earnest advce and suggestons that we should accept some sort of compromise. which means defeat put forward by Hun agents and confederates among us.

"They are busy in thatdirection already. But be sure of this: Nothing—nothing we may have to endure now will weight one featherweight compared with what we shall most certainly have to suffer if for any cause we fail of victory."

HERE'S A PREDICTION FOR YOU

Edward James Cattell statistician of the city of Philadelphia, has figured out the financial situation in this terse and interesting manner:

"Have no fear of the outcome—there will be plenty of money. Our Reserve System renders fluid our money and man power. In my time I have seen the wealth of this country grow from seven billion to two hundred and thirty-seven billions. Just check me up on this when the war is over. The United States, due to profits made, will have within ten per cent of the total wealth it had when the war started—profits will build up almost as fast as expenses increases. Ten years ago we would have laughed at the idea of drafting the entire country for war purposes and equally smiled at the statement that in twelve months we would have a seasoned lot of men in thet renches with the assurance that they will give a good account of themselves. But we did it and we will do more."

LESS CONSERVATISM; MORE WORK.

Some people still think that when you talk economy you mean to put money in the sock. Money in the sock isno good to the government in war times.

The United States is the home of extravagance and China the cradle of economy. Compare the two nations for world progress.

Just now the United States is in need of less conservation and more work. What is economy in Europe is not economy here.

We must stand behind our government in full force but penny wise and pound foolish is not going to win the war.

THE COTTON FARMER

If this war is for the protection of any man's financial interest more than another's that man is the Southern cotton farmer. He is getting thirty-two cents a pound for his product. because the seas are open for the export of cotton. No other producer in this country has so high a stake in the carrying on of ocean commerce—an ocean commerce Germany tried to abolish.

KEEP THE OLD FLAG FLYING

The request of Burgess Woodward to those who have had flags flying over their places of business. to replace them with cleaner emblems, as well as those which are not torn to pieces. is one that should be responded to immediately. Let all of the flags which have been destroyed by wind and weather be replaced by new ones and let it be done at once.

Even Germany hasn't enough men to throw them with such recklessness into the terrific battle now in progress in France. When they shall have passed the "peak" and taken stock they will find the price has been greater than the value obtained.

The rallying cry of "Hold, Allies, hold," will be heard round the world.

This German drive. if it does nothing else, should put an end to peace talk. A peace at this time, with temporary German successes, would mean that the entire world would begin preparing for a greater war than this one. The allies must win the present contest if the world is to be made safe for democracy.

Of course we are anxious about the result of the Kaiser's supreme drive. However, when the Germans become exhausted, for they cannot keep this drive up for long, we will hand it right back to him. Then the reserve power will come into play.

The Germans are using over 90 Divisions in the great drive. If they cannot win with that number they realize their efforts will be useless.

The eGrman kaiserbum expressed willingness to lose 300,000 men in this drove. Well, they are going to lose that many and more.

The onslaught of the Germans has been mighty—but the defense of the British and the allies has been mightier.

PENNSYLVANIA WIDOW CRIES FOR JOY

"I couldn't eat anything but raw eggs and sweet milk and was so weak I could hardly walk across the room. I would have been in my grave today if I hadn't taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy when I did. SHIVELY GAINED 3 MORE POUNDS

"Why It Has Restored My Health so Perfectly That It Seems a Miracle."

"Yes sir, this Tanlac beats anything I have ever before used," declared F. P. Shively, a well-known salesman who lives at 1007 Third St., Juniata, Pa.

"I had no idea it was so good. Why, it has restored my health so perfectly that it seems more like a miracle than anything else.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble. My indigestion was all out of sorts. I couldn't eat. Whenever I did try to take anything solid, I would suffer from gas on my stomach and a sickening feeling that lasted for several hours afterward.

"My nerves were also out of gear, and I couldn't sleep sound and restful at night. I would wake up in the morning feeling heavy and languid, and I could scarcely muster up enough energy to get up and dress myself. I seldom ever could eat breakfast.

"After using two bottles of Tanlac my stomach seems in perfect shape. I can eat good and never slept better in all my life. My weight has been increased three pounds by Tanlac I simply can't get enough to eat now."

Tanlac is now sold here by Piper's Pharmacy.

REMARKABLE RACE

Thousands Live to Be Over 100 Years —Fellowship With Nature

In Oriental Europe or the Near East as it is called, lives a most remarkable race of people. They are the Bulgarians. When we consider that one influence or another is continually striving to undermine the hardihood of this struggling race, we marvel at their good health and long life. When they are not at war, they are battling with death-dealing plagues or famines. With all this they are today the sturdiest people in the world.

In Bulgaria in spite of poor sanitary conditions. among 1,000,000 inhabitants, there are 1,600 over 100 years old. In France there is only one person in a million over 100 years old, while it is rare news item in the United States when a man dies after reaching the century mark. We no longer marvel at the ruggedness of the Bulgarians—the secret of their almost universal healthy old age has been discovered and all suffering humanity may now avail themselves of the benefits by following the example of the Bulgars.

The basis of good health, the Bulgarians claim is pure blood. They keep their system in perfect trim by means of an Herb Tea called Bulgarian Blood Tea. This Tea is composed of 1 4 wonderful herbs and when brewed in hot water produces such a powerful Tonic and System Regulator that in cases of constipation. indigestion. rheumatism. liver-kidney, stomach and blood troubles Bulgarian Blood Tea is the Master Remedy. 50 cents and $1.00. All druggists now have it.

What the Germans have won has been done by mere weight of numbers. Just the same, they have paid a heavy price and will pay even a heavier toll before the great battle is over.

WOMEN ARE BOOSTING IT

You Cannot Fool the Women

Once you have shown them and got their confidence they will stick through thick and thin to what they know and believe is a good thing.

Hundreds of women in our city are going around today with joy in their hearts and a new lease on life and health where before each day was one long "nervous drag of misery."

As one woman expressed it, "It's not the work you do, it's the way you feel that makes the drudgery, you cannot get ahead when you go to bed all in, too tired to sleep and get up in the morning half dead. Believe me I know. I certainly was a nervous wreck, every task a load, no ambition, thin, haggard and pale, an old woman before my time. Look at me now, some change, eh! Work is a pleasure, I am just bubbling over with life and good spirits the picture of health, cheeks rosy and full of the color that only ironized blood can give, while my phosphate-fed nerves are as steady as a clock nothing worries me, I sleep like a top and feel like a girl of sixteen. Take it from me, I want Phosphated Iron to get credit for everything; too much cannot be said in its praise, it sure is the goods and everyone I have recommended it to is a booster."

This is only one of many like cases in our city, there is no need of any man or woman going around with that tired all-in feeling or any form of nervousness. if they will get next to themselves, take a brace and stack up to a package of Phosphated Iron. It sure will spruce you up and make you feel like a live wire once more, so get busy.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only. Do not take pills or tablets, insist on capsules. W. F. Hennings and leading druggists everywhere.

"HABGOOD AND HARMONY"

WILL SWEEP THE STATE

IN THE REPUBLICAN PRIMARIES ON MAY 21

FOR GOVERNOR

The Republicans of Pennsylvania will stand by National Chairman Hays, who says:

1. "Factionalism is the most destructive force in our party."
2. "The purpose of the National Committee and similar committees, is to elect, and not to select candidates."

The factional fights of Philadelphia and Harrisburg shall not be dragged into every voting precinct in the State, for the rank and file, including the vast body of independent Republicans, will vote against both factions.

Habgood is not and will not be a candidate of any faction, clique or leader. He has always been loyal to the party's candidates, regardless of factions, and he welcomes the support of all Republicans from the most modest to the most powerful.

Factionalism Means Defeat Republicanism Over All Means Victory

Habgood favors the National amendments for Prohibition and Woman's Suffrage, consistent with his open and constant approval for the past twelve years of a nation-wide basis and is supporting in his home county for the Legislature, only candidates who will vote to ratify them.

OSBORNE BOOKS A WASHINGTON TEAM

Manager Arch Osborne of the Pittsburg Steel baseball team is booking dates for games which will be played at the local park the coming summer. The opening date has already been arranged for, when the always-popular Pittsburg Colelgians will make their initial appearance for 1918 on the local grounds. On Monday another team was closed with for a local date, the Tyler Tube and Pipe Company team from Washington being booked for the 18th of May. The Washington team is said to be quite a strong one, having a number of players who formerly played in some of the minor leagues. This team expects to begin training next Saturday, and the players ought to be in fine fettle when they appear in Charleroi.

In the meantime Manager Osborne is shaping up his team and expects to have them hard at practice just as soon as the weather is favorable. With daylight conservation in force during the summer, it is likely that twilight games will be arranged for later in the season.

MADE A VISIT TO CAMP LAUREL

Theodore J. Allen returned Monday evening from Camp Laurel, near Washington, where he spent a few days visiting with his son, Don, who is a member of the 23rd Engineers. Camp Laurel is but a short distance from Washington, on the B. & O. railroad, with only the 23rd Engineers in camp. The boys all look fine, Mr. Allen says and are very anxious to get over to the other side to take part in the gigantic military operations now under way. There is no information as to when they will be started, but from their healthy appearance and the "pep" they display Mr. Allen was of the opinion that they are about ready for more serious duty. Mr. Allen made the trip to Camp Laurel with Al Steck in his machine. They left Washington City Monday morning and made the run home a distance of 227 miles in about eight and one-half hours. They had a delightful trip both ways.

Great For Emergencies

San Cura Ointment Should Be in Every Home

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San-Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centreville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., Druggists, to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains and chaped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., druggists.

BEST SKIN SOAP

Is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Henning's Drug Store and Piper Bros., Druggists.

MEAN TO STAMP OUT OBEAH

Authorities Will Put Stop to Practice Too Long Prevalent in the Virgin Islands.

The American officials of the Virgin Islands have taken steps to deal with the novel but serious crime of obeah which has long been practiced in the islands. Matilda Francois has been arrested and incarcerated as an obeah woman and much excitement has been caused by the prosecution which is being conducted by the Americans to show that this wicked and shameful practice must cease.

The obeah is a sort of first cousin of the voodoo of darkest Africa, which is said to be still practiced in the interior of Haiti, and which has not been entirely stamped out in other islands of the West Indies group. The obeah man or woman sets up as a sort of witch doctor professing to cure all ills by use of charms, to be skilled in the preparation of love philters, and of concoctions that are believed to be certain to bring harm to the enemy of the victim who pays.

Superstition still has such strong hold on the minds of those who believe in obeah that they pay their good money and protect them in court until obeah cases at times have become the bane of officials. Often convictions are only brought about through deep-laid plots and skillful work on the part of the police.

SUCH A SMART BROTHER

But It Is Entirely Probable Sister Did Not Appreciate His Peculiar Form of Wit.

A young lady in Lakewood is of the opinion that she is grown up—an which opinion she is not encouraged either by her parents or her older brother. She is fifteen, brother is sixteen. She thinks that young men should be allowed to call on her in the evening; brother jeers parents shake their heads.

Finally the girl's mother consented to her having a certain approved boy call, provided he came on a Friday evening. And the excited damsel called the favored youth up on the phone and imparted the glad news. It is presumed that the young man (he was all of eighteen years old) spent a good deal of time at his toilet that evening—certainly the young lady took great care of hers. She was still primping when the swain rang the doorbell. Brother answered.

"Ah," began the caller, clearing his throat. "Is Miss Jones at home?"

"Come in," answered Brother, equivocally. Then he went to the foot of the stairs and called—

"Molly! Quit cuttin' paper dolls an' come downstairs. One of your playmates wants to see you!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

First Irish Coaching Company.

In 1815, an Italian, named Bianconi, started the first coaching company in Ireland, running long cars over various regular routes. Long cars soon became the safest and most reliable means of traveling over Ireland, and Bianconi turned rich and prosperous. Writing in or about 1842, Mr. and Mrs. Hall, who have written much of Ireland, tell us that "persons of the highest respectability" used the long cars for traveling. At this time, although these cars passed through 128 towns they had not made their way into the north of Ireland. The cars varied considerably in size, requiring from one to four horses. The fare, even over the rockiest roads in the West, was two-pence farthing a mile. The Halls carefully explain that passengers were provided with "dry and comfortable horse-hair cushions and aprons" and that, in wet weather, the long cars never journeyed more than two stages without changing the cushions.

Eucalyptus Valuable Tree.

Eucalyptus will grow under many adverse conditions, so long as they are protected from frost. The young trees cannot stand frost, and this fact has restricted the growth of the species to certain favorable sections of California and the Southwest. On the other hand, the trees will thrive on very poor soil and they do not require very much attention. Some of the largest commercial plantations, maintained by railroad companies for tie-making purposes, are located along the shores of the Pacific ocean near San Diego, where their principal moisture comes from the heavy fogs that roll in from the sea, and which are absorbed by the leaves.

Peculiar Pronunciation.

The pronunciation of English proper names is established arbitrarily and independent of ordinary rules. In England they pronounce the name of the poet Cowper, Cooper; that of Lord Cockburn, a former chief justice, Coburn; that of Earl Cholmondeley, an English general and poet, Chumly. Marjoribanks is pronounced Marchbanks, and Bolingbroke is Bullingbrook. The name of Hawarden castle, where Gladstone died, is pronounced Harden, and that of Colonel St. Leger, who served in the revolutionary war, is pronounced Sillijer.

When Letters Were a Luxury.

In our modern speed of railroad travel, and the consequent facilities in the transmission of mail matter all over the civilized world, it is well enough to look back to the time when letter writing was a luxury indulged in only by a few, and communication between friends at a distance well nigh an impossibility. In its first application the word "post" meant a courier or carrier of messages.

Foolish Victims of Custom.

A summer hotel in Vermont once tried the experiment of placing horn-pout on the menu, only to provoke indignant protests from the guests against such unheard-of and uncivilized food. A few days later the despised fish were again presented under the disguise of "mountain trout," when they met with such enthusiastic favor that several men had to be employed for the rest of the season to catch enough of the fish to satisfy the demands of the discriminating guests. These victims of custom would eat trout, but not catfish.

Really "Playing the Game."

When a soldier plays the game, he does things which it requires a braver man than himself to accomplish; he never knows when he's done; he acknowledges no limit to his cheerfulness and strength; whatever his rank, he holds his life less valuable than that of the humblest; he laughs at danger not because he does not dread it, but because he has learned that there are ailments more terrible and less curable than death.

Let the Cows Have Music.

We have it on the authority of a farmer in the state of Wisconsin that cows to which the phonograph, or gramophone, has been played while they are being milked have given two quarts of milk a day more than they ever did before. Professor Harker remarks upon this that cows will do a lot better if they are entertained and amused, and that a great deal depends upon their mood.—London Tit-Bits.

Work Requires Expert.

An herbarium is a collection of dried plants systematically arranged and named, for ready reference. If the work is well done the market value is good and the material in constant demand. The two classes of herbaria are kept separate, being the garden plants and the native or wild plants. Only an expert, and a careful one, may collect with hope of profit.

Friendship.

Friendship is a vase which when it is flawed by heat or violence, or accident, may well be broken at once: it can never be trusted after. The more graceful and ornamental it was, the more clearly do we discern the hopelessness of restoring it to its former state. Coarse stones if they are fractured, may be cemented again; precious stones—never.

The Unicorn.

The unicorn which assists the lion in upholding the British Royal coat of arms bears the reputation of being entirely mythical. But in truth it has an actual prototype in the chiru, an antelope of western Thibet and Hindustan. By right the chiru has two horns, but it is of so pugnacious a disposition that it often loses one of them.

No Honest Work Wasted.

No honest work is wasted. Force is never lost. You may see the results you expect, but there are always results when there is effort. Never let yourself think that anything you have done has been in vain. Effort and achievement are inseparable.—Exchange.

Classifying the Jury.

Counsel (addressing jury)—The principal fault of the prisoner has been his unfortunate characteristic of putting faith in thieves and scoundrels of the basest description. I have done. The unhappy man in the dock puts implicit faith in you, gentlemen of the jury.

Where Courage Is Valuable.

It takes courage to do that which is unpopular, but which one feels is right. Courage is a great asset in citizenship because it impels us to do right for right's sake and not because it pleases some one else.

Literal.

"Josh Billings said he was an honest man because jail life didn't agree with him." "That was frank, wasn't it?" "No, it was Josh. Never heard of Frank Billings."—Boston Transcript.

Every Affection in Patriotism.

Dear are our parents, dear our children, our relatives and our associates, but all our affections for all these are embraced in our affection for our native land.—Cicero.

Get a Magnet.

A magnet will attract a hook and eye which is liable to rust, while it rejects the nonliable ones. So a magnet is a handy tool for the sewing basket.

Nursery Note.

It costs Paris nearly $100,000 a year to care for the trees on its streets and boulevards and in its parks, more than 1,000 new ones being planted annually.

Measure Smoke.

A British committee for investigation of atmospheric pollution maintains smoke measuring apparatus in 16 English and Scotch towns.

Keep Up the Good Work.
